

General Instructions for using Quickleen - R

Quickleen-R is a Filter, Rangehood, BBQ Plate and Oven Rack Cleaner that cleans exhaust filters, BBQ plates and grills and oven racks quickly and easily. It is an alkaline based detergent for the removal of heavy grease build-up and burnt on food and is specifically designed to be safe on aluminium, stainless steel, chrome and cast iron surfaces.

It is suitable for commercial and domestic application. Many hospitality business owners have no option but to get "the filter man" to change their filters – but now filters can be cleaned on-site and in less than 15 minutes. Your filters won't suffer any damage, can be cleaned whenever required and you will be saving money. You will also enjoy the peace of mind knowing that your filters never leave your premises and haven't been exchanged for other filters from a far less hygienic environment.

The proper ratio is 1 Tablespoon per Litre of hot water but the easiest method is to simply mix enough Quickleen- R with hot water in a sink so it takes on a "milky look" (the size of your sink will determine how much product you need to add), submerge the filters for 10 to 15 minutes, (no longer than 30 minutes). For best results move the filters around letting the solution move through the filter. Pull the filters out and rinse. Your filters will be thoroughly cleaned right through – not missing a spot thanks to our unique complete submerging process. And don't worry – you can't add too much Quickleen-R. No matter how strong the solution you won't damage your filters.

Bread racks, oven racks, greasy trays and cast iron trivets can also be cleaned with Quickleen-R using the simple "submerge – soak – rinse" method. Just add enough hot water to cover the item and enough Quickleen R to get a "milky look". Racks, trays and trivets can be soaked for as long as is required.

The hotter the water the better and quicker the results.

As an added bonus Quickleen-R is stronger than many drain products so your sink gets a free wash out at the same time.

WEAR GLOVES AND EYE PROTECTION as Quickleen R is MUCH stronger than Quickleen S.

We hope this helps you make the most out of your purchase and you truly enjoy the benefits of such simple, easy and effective products. If you have any question about how to use Quickleen please contact us at info@quickleenqld.com.au

PS Do not add water to your bucket of Quickleen S or R. Always add Quickleen R to the water.
